Screen cap for blank field errors

The screenshot shows a web browser window with the URL `suenguyen90.github.io/registration.html`. The page has a navigation bar with links: Home, Invitation, Volunteers, Gallery, and Registration. The Registration page contains several input fields, each with a red error message indicating that the field is required but empty:

- Username: *Your user name is required.
- Password: *Your password is required.
- Verify your Password: *Your password is required.
- First Name: *Your first name is required.
- Last Name: *Your last name is required.
- Email: *Your email is required.
- Phone Number: *Your phone is required.
- Sign up for newsletter: *Your selection is required.

At the bottom of the form is a red "Submit" button.

Screen cap for specified requirements for input fields

The screenshot shows the same registration page, but now the input fields contain specific values that trigger more detailed error messages:

- Username: Sue@ (Error: *Username must contains only letters and numbers.)
- Password: ... (Error: *Password must contain minimum of 8 characters.)
- Verify your Password: ..... (Error: *Password does not match. Please re-enter the above password)
- First Name: 123 (Error: *First name must contain only letters.)
- Last Name: 456 (Error: *Last name must contain only letters.)
- Email: dulcinia@yahoo.com (Error: *Email address must be following the format xxx@xxx.xxx)
- Phone Number: 206 696-9497 (Error: *Phone must be following the format (xxx) xxx-xxxx)

The "Sign up for newsletter" section shows the "Yes" radio button selected. A red "Submit" button is at the bottom.
